RANDOM

Designed by Neuland Industriedesign

An icon, an industrial masterpiece with an extraordinary irregular structure.

A piece of furniture that, when it was born in 2005, revolutionised the concept of bookshelf, turning it into a design sculpture. The is the visiting card of Random by Neuland Industriedesign, created all white at the beginning. Then, it came in different variants up to the colour of the 2C-3C release. A product that, with its geometries, favours lightgames, while with its modularity adapts to any living space, from the widest to the most reduced ones. Over the years, Random has extended its family, changing the concept of storage. For instance, with Random Box and Random Cabinet, objects can be both stored and shown off, while modules of different depth give an effect of considerable dynamism.

Even today, MDF Italia Random expresses an extraordinary communication energy and it is one of the icons of the whole design world.
